

When you take quizzes in ADLC's online learning system, you will encounter different types of questions.

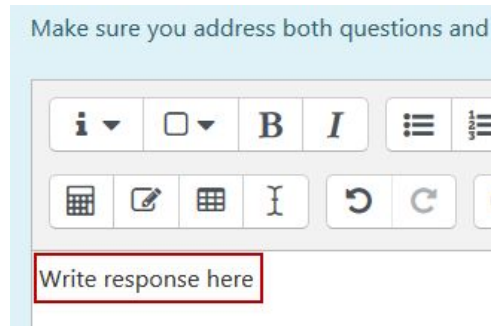

Many times, you will see multiple-choice questions. To answer these, simply click the circle next to your choice.

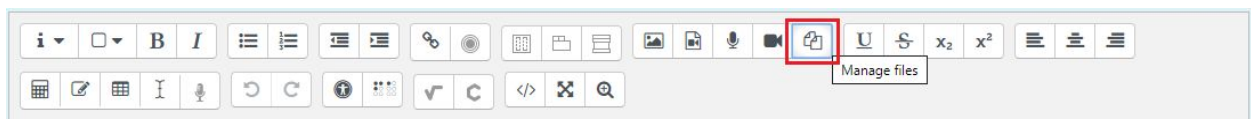

There are many other different question types. You may see drag and drop questions; best choice questions; matching questions; fill in the blank; and others. Regardless of the question type, it's very important to read the instructions that come with the question.

To answer written-response questions, simply start typing in the blank box. You may have basic formatting tools available to use.

Some written answer questions may request that you attach a file to the answer. If so, you will need to click on the Manage files icon in the toolbar

Once you are in the Manage files screen you can either drag and drop the file to add it or you can use the Add icon  to navigate to the file.

Note: Written response questions take more time to be graded or have feedback provided.
