

Getting feedback on your assignments is very useful. In your course, this is easy to access.

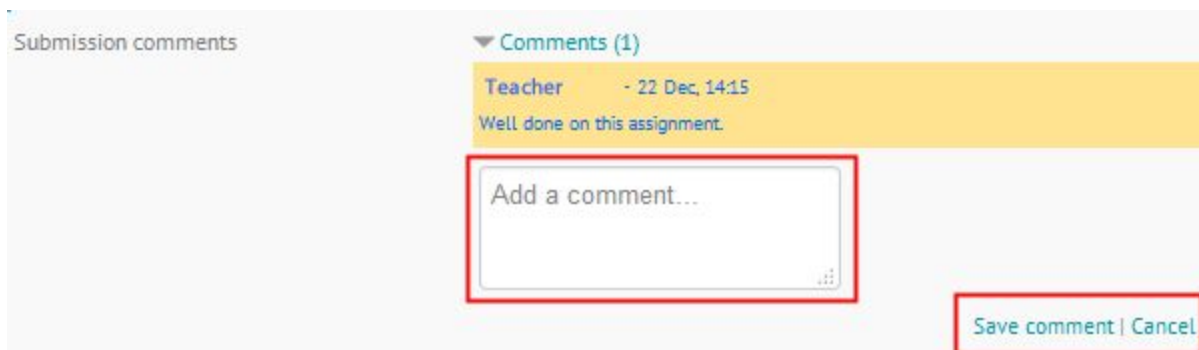

When you first submit an assignment that requires grading, it's status will be Not graded. Depending on the assignment, it may take several days for it to be graded.

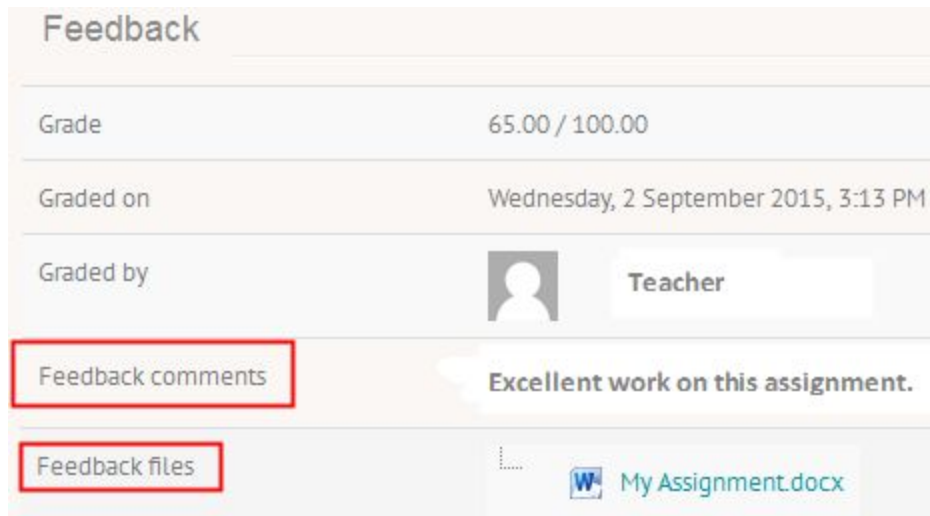

When your teacher has graded your work, the status will change to Graded.

Comments about your submission will be listed, if any. Your teacher may actually use this comment area before grading is complete. You can use it to leave comments as well.

Next, check is the Feedback area. At the top, you'll notice your grade on the assignment. There may also be Feedback comments left by your teacher. There also may be Feedback files; for example, in some cases, this might be where your assignment with further comments is returned to you.
